

JANETWORK Business Ambassador

May Forum Speakers

Life Team = Lifeline: The Secret to Successful Goal Setting and Dream Building

Lindsey Boccardo, Founder, Lindsey Boccardo Training and Coaching

All too often, high achievers believe the path to success is to grind it out alone. We believe the only way to make our dreams happen is with our own willpower, our determination and our planning. And while those are all part of the equation, they aren't everything. We also have the invaluable resource of people. Our Life Team – the people we go to for emotional support, practical help, guidance and solid advice. They will shape our lives more than any book, course or YouTube video could possibly do. We are made to influence each other and build a life of meaning together. Build a healthy Life Team and you'll truly be unstoppable.

Lindsay Boccardo is a nationally-recognized millennial expert, working with young talent and the organizations that employ them. She has been providing education and training to organizations through one-to-one programs, group coaching and seminars for more than a decade.

She is also the creator of the "Seven Steps to Rock Your Twenties" & "Unleash My Career" programs for high achieving millennials.

Lindsay holds a degree in psychology and public communication from Syracuse University, and a coaching certification from the International Coach Federation.

Through her programs, Lindsay empowers young employees to develop themselves into top talent in their organization. She has partnered with organizations such as Patachou Inc., the Indiana Supreme Court and Cars.com, creating opportunities for millennials to make powerful contributions.

Drive Profitability. Change the World.

Dora Lutz, Founder and President, GivingSpring

In this session you will learn how world-changing purpose and profit are mutually reinforcing, the five criteria to building an Aspirational Business that accomplishes both, and three things you can do to lead these efforts in your organization.

Throughout her career in operations, management, and marketing, Dora has enjoyed identifying, understanding and distilling emerging business into practical, measurable, action plans.

As the founder of GivingSpring, Dora consults with businesses, nonprofits and governmental agencies in building strategies that leverage social entrepreneurship and community engagement to create both greater social impact and profitability. Dora is one of five certified Shared Value Consultants in North America, and most recently created the course “Business Planning for Social Entrepreneurs” at Purdue University.

When not teaching, consulting or parenting, Dora serves on the board of Cancer Support Community, recently chaired the Global Council for the United Nations’ Impact 2030 Initiative, and leads a Girl Scout troop of 14 third graders.

Inclusive City: a plan for a more equitable Central Indiana

Brian Payne, President and CEO, Central Indiana Community Foundation

What exactly is an ‘Inclusive City’ and how do we mobilize people, ideas and investments to make this a community where everyone has equitable opportunity to reach their full potential - no matter place, race or identity?

Brian Payne is the President and CEO of the $800 million Central Indiana Community Foundation (CICF) and The Indianapolis Foundation. Since he joined CICF in November 2000, the foundation’s annual grantmaking has more than doubled to over $50 million. CICF’s mission is to mobilize people, ideas and investments to create a community where all individuals have an equitable opportunity to reach their full potential—no matter place, race or identity.

Brian is the Founder/Artistic Director of the Indianapolis Cultural Trail: A Legacy of Gene & Marilyn Glick. The national consulting firm, Project for Public Spaces, chose the Indianapolis Cultural Trail as the best North American example of a big, bold, transformative project that is changing the way we think of cities and city life. The US Department of Transportation awarded the Cultural Trail a $20.5 million TIGER I grant, one of only 51 grants awarded out of 1,400 proposals submitted in a merit-based competitive process.

Brian and CICF are currently leading two more transportation initiatives. One is an effort to integrate all of Indianapolis’ transportation assets into a robust personal mobility network where customized multi-modal transportation solutions are equitably delivered to a person’s smart phone. The other is an effort to create an additional 50 miles of protected bike lanes, multi-modal paths and sidewalks to the Indianapolis transportation infrastructure with a focus on underserved neighborhoods

Brian presently serves on the boards of the Indy Chamber, Visit Indy, TeenWorks, and the Indiana Repertory Theatre. Locally, he serves as the Board Chair of The District Theatre and the Vice-Chair of the IUPUI Advisory Board. Nationally, he is the board chair of Forward Cities, an organization committed to helping cities build inclusive economic growth.

Brian is a much sought-after speaker nationally and internationally. His themes include inspiring places, equity in opportunity, neighborhood development and gentrification, multi-modal transportation, trails, livability and the power of connectivity. He has been the keynote speaker for the Centre City Congress in Calgary, the City Club of Cleveland, the Texas Trails and Active Transportation Conference, Trailnet in St. Louis, the Akron/Cleveland Association of Realtors and numerous leadership conferences. He has also spoken at national conferences of the American Planning Association, CEOs for Cities, Forward Cities, Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, Council of Foundations and the United Way. He has consulted with dozens of cities in the US and Canada on urban trail projects.

Brian is the recipient of the Indianapolis Business Journal's Michael A. Carroll Leadership Award, Visit Indy's prestigious Bill McGowan Leadership Award and the Indiana University Public Policy Institute's John L. Krauss Award for Innovation in Public Policy. He has also been honored as the Indiana Citizen Planner of the Year, and has been recognized as one of the world's most powerful Hoosiers. In 2016, Brian was recognized as an Indiana Living Legend by the Indiana Historical Society.

Moderator

Rachel Pritz, Chief Growth Officer at Rachel Pritz Coaching

Rachel spent 15 years in healthcare and was an executive the last 3 years. She discovered her passion for growing and developing others and spent a year in coach training and coaching clients. Now, Rachel is coaching full time in her own practice. She coaches executives and high potentials into finding their passion and becoming the best versions of themselves.